Hats off to the guards, they truly are a great group and have sat through the storms, rain, and even summer breezy cold temps.

Swim Lessons finished up on Monday, August 7th. Ended up filling all slots in Beginner 2, Intermediate and Advanced. 4 slots filled for Beginner 1.

Lounge Chairs - currently down 4, wondering if the town can remove them, or if the frames can be kept and refurbished with new material?

EAP (Emergency Action Plan) was created by older lifeguards, shared among the group, typed up and an Emergency Binder is located among the guards table. August 5, added emergency names and contact information for all life guards.

Busy week in August - AHA visits (8/15), Falls Village Daycare Graduation (8/18), and 1 Year Old Birthday Party (8/19) Birthday 2 (8/20)

Prior issue with Patron, Patron was spoken to directly a few days after meeting when an occurrence took place and guards were being disrupted. Currently minor to no issues other than mentioning to the guards about her being addressed.

Bottom of the Pool, pretty rough on hands that hit the bottom of the pool, along with toes. We've had to offer many bandages, but also the need to clean up concrete from droppings of blood from toes hitting the concrete when they get out to walk to a seat, etc. I asked Jess to powerwash off the concrete figuring it was probably a good time to do so once she got her power washer.

WASP Control - work in progress :)

Hello

I think ckc went really well this year for my first year running it! I loved all the kids! The church worked out great it was so nice to have a kitchen to use and be so close to town so we could walk around. They really enjoyed the walking field trips to the historical sites, the cafe and our scavenger hunt! It was really great that so many in the community could come together with different projects and things for the kids to do and explore. The kids were very involved and inquisitive with all the people who volunteered their time to come do something with them. They also enjoyed baking (i hope to do more) the bead melts and bracelet making (we will have to make sure to restock for next year)! It was really nice to have access to Kellogg however that wasn't as big a hit as I had hoped. They never really lasted long with the heat! We did keep cool with water balloons and a sprinkler from my children! It would be amazing if we can get them to the pool next summer either every afternoon or just a couple days a week. I hope that word will spread even with it not at the pool it was still fun and we will have more kids interested next year. I also think with it being at 9am drop off that restricted some parents who have to work. I hope all the feedback you have received is positive and I look forward to hopefully running ckc again next summer!

Thank you for the opportunity.
